WE NOMINATE

Alexander Leitch, a singularly effective educational administrator and an enthusiastic Princetonian for well over four decades, who this week is quietly rounding out a record of service unparalleled in the history of 210-year old Nassau Hall. Having reached the statutory retirement age of 65, Leitch on June 30 completes 42 years of service as a senior officer at Princeton University — including 32 years as Secretary of the University, a pivotal administrative office combining a wide variety of responsibilities ranging from the oversight of official publications to providing the essential services for the University's Board of Trustees.

Ever since graduation from Princeton with the Class of 1924, Leitch, serving under three University Presidents (John Grier Hibben, Harold W. Dodds, and Robert F. Goheen) and one Acting President (Edward D. Duffield in 1932-33), has been headquartered in Nassau Hall. Leitch's only serious challenger for "longevity honors" in the historic structure walked its corridors over a century ago, the fabled John Maclean, Jr., Vice President of the College of New Jersey for a quarter-century and President of Princeton during the agonizing Civil War years. Maclean retired in 1868 upon completing 39-years of service in the two positions.

The characteristics of the University today, compared with the Princeton he helped develop in the 1930's and 1940's, are what Leitch, a native of Paterson, N. J., terms "the infinitely greater diversity of life on campus" and the "richness and depth" of its programs of study. For instance, the faculty in 1924 totaled 280 persons, a figure comparing with a full-time faculty today of 813 and professional research and technical staffs numbering an additional 605 persons. In 1925 there were 114 full-time students in Princeton's Graduate School contrasted with a graduate of enrollment of nearly 1,300 degree candidates in 1966.

As Princeton's "Chief of Protocol," Leitch since succeeding the late V. Lansing Collins as Secretary in 1934 has directed the commencement exercises for approximately 75% of Princeton's living alumni and over the decades has planned literally dozens of special events, including convocations involving four presidents of the United States, Hoover, Truman, Eisenhower and Johnson. He was the architect for last month's dedication of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, a complex undertaking involving the creation of an amphitheater around a mammoth reflecting pool. This event was described by a White House staff member as "the best conceived I have seen in my presidential travels."

Immediately following graduation, foregoing a career in journalism, Leitch served for one year as director of the Bureau of Appointments and Student Employment and then was appointed director of the newly-created Department of Public Information. In 1928 he became Assistant to the President serving in this capacity until designated Secretary six years later. In earlier years Leitch was also prominent in alumni affairs. He was a member of the executive committee of the Alumni Council for 12 years and served as secretary of this administrative body of the Princeton National Alumni Association from 1927 until 1929, a period during which the Alumni Council raised a $2,000,000 fund for faculty salaries.

For his many unsung contributions to the University he has served with such distinction; for his understanding of the elements which weld Town and Gown into a remarkable entity; for compiling a record of service which will stand for decades; he is our nominee as

BOARD ORGANIZES

Elects, Appoints. "I feel very humble," said Dr. Harvey Rothberg Monday night after he was unanimously elected president of the new Board of Education of the Princeton Regional School District.

The brief, historic meeting lasted less than half an hour. About 75 people came to the new John Witherspoon auditorium to fan themselves in the warm and humid evening and watch history being made.

The following evening, the Borough Board of Education held its last meeting. (See page 4). The final meeting of the Township Board was held on Thursday, June 16.

Jack B. Twichell, county superintendent of schools, who had appointed the nine Regional Board members last Thursday, opened Monday's meeting and then turned it over to Dr. Rothberg as soon as the new president had been elected.

The nine members are: Dr. Rothberg, Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, Mrs. Arthur Wagner, Dr. Robert A. Lively and Thomas Moore for the Borough; Mrs. George Fremon, Herbert Bailey, Charles Jaffin and David Brodsky for the Township.

Mr. Twichell invited Mrs. Sarah Strayer and George Grace, presidents of Borough and Township Boards, but both declined.

McKenna Named. Township superintendent John J. McKenna Jr. was appointed acting superintendent, and Kenneth E. Michael was named acting deputy superintendent and principal of Princeton High School.

William K. Evans, business manager for the Borough Board, will hold the same post for the Regional Board, and Norman J. Anderson, who has been Township secretary, will be secretary for the new Board and assistant business manager.

William H. Rhodes, who has been secretary to the Borough Board and assistant to the superintendent, will continue to be assistant to the superintendent and will, in addition, be custodian of school moneys. The custodian job has been held in the Borough by Lawrence Patterson, Borough tax collector, and in the Township, by Administrator Joseph R. Vini.

John A. Wolfkell, assistant superintendent for the Township schools, will continue in the same post for the new Regional Board.

Thomas P. Cook will continue as counsel. He has been special counsel for the Borough Board. William Miller was appointed special counsel charged with the sale of the Quarry Street School.

These decisions were reached in a single, two-hour executive session Sunday night. Votes at the public meeting were all unanimous. There seemed to be a deliberate effort to cross municipal lines: the Township's Herbert Bailey nominated the Borough's Dr. Rothberg for the presidency and the Borough's Dr. Laschever nominated the Township's Mrs. Fremon for the vice-presidency.

"In each case," said Dr. Rothberg, speaking of the Board's appointments, "the appointments were made without regard to whether the individual has in the past been on the Borough or the Township side of the line, but rather how the educational and administrative interests of this merged district would best be served."

Township Board representatives were known to feel that a Borough member should be president. Dr. McKenna was the obvious choice for acting superintendent. Mr. Michael the obvious choice for high school principal; however, the new board also felt that Mr. Michael was the obvious person to work with Dr. McKenna as deputy.

Mr. Anderson, an expert on New Jersey school law, was a natural choice for secretary and Mr. Evans, an accountant with financial expertise, a natural choice for business manager. Mr. Rhodes, skilled in handling fine detail, was another "natural" for his post.

It is expected that Mrs. Dorothea Lummis, curriculum coordinator, will work on the

What Merger Means

Merger will not change anything this fall. When school opens in September, all children will attend the school where they would have been enrolled anyway.

The new Regional Board will serve until February. On February 7, there will be a school election and all nine positions on the board will be open. Voters will choose five Borough and four Township members. They will also pass on the first regional budget.

The board that is elected in February will choose a permanent superintendent and make other permanent appointments.

consolidation of the elementary schools in combination with Mr. Wolfkiell, who is an expert on junior high organization, and Mr. Michael, the high school principal.

The new board also, on Monday night, passed the necessary resolutions authorizing banks to release funds paying bonded indebtedenesses due July 1. (These are Township debts: Borough debts fall due on other dates.) Banks are Princeton Bank and Trust and the First National Bank of Princeton, both of which were designated by the board as depositories for the new school district.

Dr. Rothberg cited three major problems facing the new board. The first, he said, is to close ranks and begin to think as one major regional district. "I sense harmony already," he observed. He added that the new board will encourage "constructive citizen planning."

The second problem is to fuse the two separate districts in to a single K-12 system, so that each district benefits from the other. The third is to work on the overcrowding problem at the high school.

The board expects 1,878 students at the high school in September, attending under an expanded schedule. The school was designed for 1,500.

Termination of sending district contracts is essential, Dr. Rothberg emphasized. The new board will meet with the entire West Windsor Board on July 19. The Montgomery Township hearings with the state commissioner are scheduled to be held in about two weeks.

Work Ahead. The new regional board will not have many free evenings in the next six months. Public meetings will be held at the high school the fourth Tuesday of each month — the former Borough Board's meeting night — but the board will meet once a week in executive session. Dr. Rothberg , Mrs. Fremon and Dr. McKenna are scheduled to meet this Wednesday to go over all the material that must be covered.

Priorities are important; for example, by September, the board must co-ordinate Borough-Township personnel policies such as sabbaticals, days off for teachers, so that a single merged policy is ready when the teachers return in the fall.

Board members must also block out the budget that will be voted on by the community next February, and this means they must make major decisions, especially on what to do to various school buildings.

Pupil allocation, in detail, may be left to administrative officials to work out.

"We have much to learn and a lot of information to gather before we can make decisions," one board member observed, "but it's marvellous to be able to think about schools and education once again."

The nine members of the new board are by no means veterans.

Dr. Lively, with three years on the Borough Board has the longest term of experience. He was elected in 1963, re-elected last February. Mr. Moore and Drs. Laschever and Rothberg were elected in 1964. Mr. Jaffin, Mr. Brodsky and Mrs. Fremon were elected in February, 1965. Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Bailey have only been school board members since February of this year.

Dr. Rothberg is a specialist in internal medicine, Dr. Laschever is an ophthalmologist. Dr. Lively is a member of the history department at Princeton University. Mr. Moore owns Moore's Taxi Service. Mrs. Wagner is a housewife.

Mr. Jaffin is an attorney, Mr. Brodsky is treasurer of Educational Testing Service. Mr. Bailey is director of the Princeton University Press and Mrs. Fremon a free-lance writer.

Both Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Bailey have served as chairmen of school study committees. Mr. Bailey (with Mrs. Fremon as vice-chairman) guided the committee that reported on the future of the Township school system in 1964 and Mrs. Wagner was co-chairman, with Bryan V. Moore, of the Borough Board's Citizens' Advisory Committee.

MAN BEHIND THE BOARD: Jack B. Twichell of Pennington, Mercer County Superintendent of Schools, appointed the nine-man Board of Education for the Princeton Regional School District.

MILESTONES COUNTED

In a 20-Year Career. "There have been some marvelous things that have happened here," School Superintendent Chester R. Stroup said at a school meeting recently. "Our attitude has been one of cautious experimentation. Children are not rats in a maze."

He leaves this Thursday at age 50, after 20 years in the Borough school system to become principal of the Haddonfield schools. In his farewell at the meeting, he listed the innovation during his years here, but never his own role. Since then many voices have spoken out.

"I knew at our first meeting," says B. Woodhull Davis, the man who hired him as Nassau Street School principal, "that he was one who could work with children very well."

"He is so able in every capacity," Mrs. B. R. Cawley, former Board president, adds.

"Y.I.Ps." A mother recalls finding Dr. Stroup in the hall outside of his office at the school. "He knew me at once by name, and said he would be glad to see me, but first, he had some 'important people' to greet.

"It was recess time, and little people were passing by. I stood by watching Chet call a name, shake a hand, pat a head, wave, smile. It was a privilege to witness the response from these 'important people.' This one incident sums up for me Chet's greatness as a person and as a school administrator."

Prof. Jeremiah Finch of Princeton University told the guests at last week's testimonial banquet. "Again and again, at Board meetings and at other times, we have had Chet Stroup remind us that the welfare of the children came first. . ."

"You can mandate change, Dr. Stroup says, but it won't work. "You need to involve your staff as you go. The secret of this is the development of mutual confidence, a teacher knowing that she can experiment and if things don't go as she hopes that she will work with her."

A woman told Dr. Finch, "In my early teaching days, while I was still feeling my way, Chet stepped in for about five minutes. As he left, he smiled and said, 'I like your climate.' Nothing could have given me more encouragement just when I needed it."

From Mrs. Eunice Birch, his secretary for 18½ years, "Teachers love his accessibility. He'd just roll up his sleeves and go to work to help . . . not only school, but personal problems. His wife Kay is the same way."

Another parent and Board member relates, "We recall a trying time in the Stroup household. Their son, Freddie was seriously ill. It was a strange disease. The Stroups had just moved to town and were hardly located. I believe the doctors used a new drug in the treatment. But Chet carried on with superb courage. . . Through that experience, the Stroups entered into the lives of many Princetonians."

Dr. Stroup recalls that the Borough was first to have a school psychologist, Dr. Jack Barden. The Child Guidance Clinic first held forth in Dr. Barden's office at the Nassau School.

An elementary school guidance program began shortly after he became principal when he added Thomas Seraydarian to the staff. "This is when we laid the groundwork for team teaching." The concept grew until in 1962 Witherspoon School was literally taken by storm.

"The children most of the time were spellbound," Howard B. Waxwood Jr., the principal, recalls. "Teachers with free time would run down to the team teaching room just to listen.

"I was never taught this way. The children really got a thrilling resume. Everything centered on the item we were focusing on . . . the Middle Ages, or Athens, the Renaissance, the French Revolution.

"I never saw films on the Middle Ages, then had the art teacher come in with the paintings and then someone else with the music of the time. Thomas Hibbish even had the children sing the young choir boys' chants. This was one of the most successful projects we have ever had. The University, the Seminary and the Choir College sent people who gave marvelous lectures.

"It is a great program, but Philip Cobb and the other teachers were worn out. We didn't have enough staff. The room we used was full of equipment for other classes.

"On rainy days the children played there and we'd always have to clear things up to make room for the team teaching classes. It takes money, you know, to have good education and sometimes we are not willing to spend it."

It was dropped last year but Mr. Waxwood suspects "we'll go back to it. This is something to be used by the master teachers—we had this here."

More than 30 years ago, Dr. Stroup says, the Borough began kindergarten classes for 4-year-olds. "It's called 'Head Start' now." About 13 or 14 years ago, children considered poor reading risks were given a different reading program and outside experiences. "They had caught up by fourth grade. Other schools have profited by our experience."

tion in the early 1950's, resulted in a book on classroom climate.

Child Development. The school nurse, Miss Mildred Kaplan, became so interested in child development, that she was sent about eight years ago to the University of Maryland to study. She returned to pioneer weekly sessions for parents.

Changes, often pace-setters, have included the Yale SMSC, ("New Math"), a pilot program in which the Borough and Township were among eight experimental centers in the country. "That was a rough year, the program was completely re-written!" It was set up in the Borough by Morrill Shepherd of the high school, with help from Alan Tucker of Princeton University and Sheldon Myers of ETS.

There were blasts in the London Mail and the New York Times over "fossilized classics" in 1961 when Prof. Herman Ward, brought in as a consultant by the school board, up-dated the English literature program at the high school. "What we were really talking about was fossilized teaching," Dr. Stroup says. "Chet came right to the fore and defended him." Mrs. Birch (who filed the press clippings) says "He's been a mediator all the way through."

School Camping Started. "Fourteen years ago, we founded school camping. No other school in the East, to our knowledge, was attempting this. The teachers gained great insight."

Mrs. Dorothy Lammis, who succeeded him as Nassau Street principal, adds, "An entire class group goes either in the spring or the fall. We have had as many as six or seven groups in one year. We use the National Guard Barracks at the shore, or, more often, Camp Delaware. Camp knits a group together, and the teacher is the better for it."

For 12 years, Chet Stroup and Mike Kline conducted Camp Tomahawk for boys ages 7 to 13. "This is one of the most pleasurable experiences of my whole Princeton stay."

When David Cook went up for his diploma in the high school graduation last week, he heard the last "So long, Tomahawker!"

Active in the Community Services Council, the Kiwanis, the Family Service, Red Cross, a trustee of Princeton Day School, a former member of the Princeton Players, and the owner of the sloop "Lady Kay," berthed at Barnegat, Chet Stroup leaves quite a hole behind him.

His Privilege. "There was a time when Chet was sitting with colleagues at a High School Choir concert somewhere. One of his colleagues, impressed with the Choir, said to Chet, "Those young ladies look sweet enough to kiss, don't they?" •

Chet replied, 'I think that's what I'll do.' Whereupon he got up and kissed one of those young ladies, to the astonishment of his colleagues. They didn't know that the young lady was Chet's daughter."

Dr. Finch sums up. "The job of administering schools is a bit like an iceberg: only a small part shows. The rest is hidden—the long—range planning, the fires put out, the mistakes avoided, the hot heads cooled down, the hasties quieted before hand. All this hard-won accomplishment is part of Chet's record."

From Haddonfield, Retiring Superintendent William Reynolds says, "We're very pleased that we have been able to lure him away from Princeton. We hope that you people in Princeton are not mad at us."

AFTER 109 YEARS . . . Borough School System Ends. In a two-hour session on Tuesday, the Borough Board closed the Borough public school system, incorporated 109 years ago. Few residents attended the demise.

Mrs. Paul Strayer, president, termed her four-and-a-half years on the board "rewarding" and said of future school matters, "If there must be criticism, let it be constructive, for this keeps everyone on his toes."

PLAYHOUSE

My Fair Lady (now playing) is a lush and lovely musical. Admirers of the stage version will find that it has been transferred to the screen with its wit and style intact.

It's all here—the eternally provocative Pygmalion legend as interpreted in the play by Bernard Shaw that Alan Lerner and Frederick Loewe transferred to the musical stage. Audrey Hepburn is believable in the Role of Eliza Doolittle, the flower girl transformed into a grand lady, and Rex Harrison is excellent as her mentor, Professor Higgins a part he played for 1,006 times on the stage.

Stanley Holloway as Alfred P. Doolittle, Eliza's droll father, is as lively and athletic in the film as if it were opening night again—he held the part in New York and London for three and a half years. His cavorting in "With a Little Bit of Luck" and "Get Me to the Church on Time" is a delight.

As might be expected from a $17 million production, the picture is a visual knockout. Cecil Beaton who created the production scenery and costume design, has made the film a feast for the eyes at all times, the high point being the Ascot scene with its magical combinations of whites, blacks and grays.

Among the tunes heard are "Wouldn't It Be Loverly?," "The Rain in Spain," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "The Street Where You Live," and "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face."

GARDEN

Arabesque (now playing) This lavish, suspenseful comedy-drama has a potent cast, headed by Gregory Peck and Sophia Loren. The film has been made with high good humor and some of the most fascinating color photography imaginable.

The story is set in present-day England, in and around London, and deals with efforts to prevent the assassination of the prime minister of a Middle Eastern Country . . . Peck plays a bemused American college professor of ancient languages at Oxford on an exchange basis. His services are sought to decipher a message written in hieroglyphics which holds the key to the murder plot.

Miss Loren, impossibly lovely and gowned by Dior, is the mysterious Arabian who seems to be working for various countries. Alan Badel is the chief villain. The intricate plot bursts into explosive action quite often and contains many elements of the spy spoof.

RIDE UP RIVER

Milltstone, This Time. The Wheel 'n Forge gift shop is tucked away on North River St. in Millstone, beyond Griggstown, a delightful afternoon's drive into the green dairy country.

It's a remodeled forge, as you've guessed, made of thick stone and the patina of generations. Inside, there is a collection of reproductions from 18th and early 19th century: pine and south Jersey glass, hand-made pinafores and rough wood chopping boards.

Upstairs — it's almost a ladder — you'll find a roughhewn pine hamper just the size for hallway or bath, and a miniature school-master's desk, only 12 inches square, with slanting lid that lifts up and reveals all the paper clips you've put inside. It's smooth, oiled walnut. A matching letter file of three slanting tiers has a white-buttoned drawer across the bottom.

Across the hall is a sampling of samplers to keep young fingers busy during the summer. Cross-stitch the famous Kennedy quotation" Ask not what your country can do for you . . ." or "Give me time for patience," which is what you'll need to work a cross-stiched sampler if you're about ten years old.

The Chip-pie Kit has a picture of a bunny with REAL FUR, and real lace to go around his neck. You paste it all together on a bit summer afternoon, and then pat the furry bunny when you're done. There's an owl kit, too, with real little spectacles to arrange across his beak.

For kitchen, den or garden room, Wheel 'n Forge has rustic plaques made of beaten old wood decorated, pub style, with genuine old horse-shoes, bits, spurs and the faded signs of old inns.

In the same vein, there's a collection of rough wood chopping boards shaped like whales and — you'll never guess — an oblong wooden chest, in the proportions of a hope chest but much smaller, labeled "Hair Rollers." Nice dark stained pine, neatly turned feet and everything. The rollers you provide.

Those hand-made pinnies are for toddlers, and they open charmingly down the back, edged by a row of fringe. The neck-line is draw-string. We saw one in dark blue denim, another in a demure easiee print, but the choice is yours.

The iron waxer is a pad you use to wax your iron. Inside the pad is bayberry, just the way it used to be when Colonial wives used a sad-iron, only you can use this bayberry scent on you own electric. Gives clothes a pleasant aroma. Here's an antiqued green wood wall clock to tick away the coffee hours in somebody's kitchen and a tremendous array of canister sets, mostly in brown glazed ware the color of warm gingerbread.

Wheel 'n Forge is open from 11-5 every day, Sundays from 1-5, closed Tuesdays.

AT HOME. WOW!

How's the Patio? Warm, that's what. Especially if you're wearing one of the long patio dresses from Mayme Mead. This shop, usually thought of as the home of serene Davidow tweeds, has gone wild with summer prints, and the two patio dresses we saw are so intoxicating you won't even need to serve the gin and tonic.

One is basically hot lime combined with hot orange, hot emerald and bronze, all swirling together like a midsummer noon. It has wide, wild cape sleeves that don't quite make the elbow.

The second, square-necklined, has morning glories in blue, pink or purple, bursting into bloom below a rasberry waist.

Mayme Mead is a shop with a wide-angle view of sizes. Here (off the patio, now) is a summer afternoon dress in size 20 with real flowers like buttercups, zinnias, blue asters and leaves laid on polished cotton and fashioned into a dress with little sleeves, a wide, scalloped neckline and a belt at the natural waistline.

In size 10, there's arnel sharkskin, sleek and straight with low square neck front and back, straight skirt and stitched belt.

Another white arnel has a round neck, but a deep V in narrow red and royal piping to give the illusion of a V-neckline. One short sleeve is narrowly piped in red, the other in royal, and there's a deep knife pleat in front to take you in stride.

Mixing and matching goes on all summer at Mayme Mead. Shorts are marvelously printed, usually with happy flowers in full bloom. (Look at the white pair with pink royal and olive leaves and flowers!) We like the collarless pop-overs, sleeveless, as a pleasant change from the ubiquitous little-round-collar (and so much cooler!) An avocado dacron-linen top matches a pair of avocado shorts with sunny yellow and white daisies all over.

But look at this — It's a set of shorts, top and skirt with ruffle around the bottom of the top and up the side of the wrap skirt. Notice how carefully it's made: the inner hem has an edging of lace.

STAGECOACH: Alex Cord and Ann-Margret are among the excellent cast in the free-swinging western now at the Prince Theatre.

News Of The Theatres

PRINCE

Stagecoach (now playing) opens with the bloody massacre of a U.S. Cavalry patrol by Indians, moves immediately to a frontier saloon sequence where two drunken Cavalry men kill each other over a dancing girl, settles down briefly to establish its characters, and then lunges headlong towards a finale that leaves only the good guys standing.

It is a big, broad, wide-ranging, free-swinging super, western in the old tradition of "Shane," "Red River" and the 1939 Walter Wanger-John Ford "Stagecoach."

The competent cast includes Ann-Margret, Red Buttons, Michael Connors, Big Crosby as a hard-drinking doctor), Bob Cummings, Van Heflin, Slim Pickens and Keenan Wynn.

This is an interesting, oftimes absorbing western.

BACH IS NEXT

At Sundance, Bach's "Coffee Cantata" and his Cantata No. 51, "Jauchzet Gott", will be presented this Friday, starting at 9 p.m., at the Sundance amphitheatre, Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County.

The Judson Chamber Ensemble of 12 musicians will perform and the soloists in the "Jauchzet Gott" will be Jane Rosenfeld, flute; Richard Sun Filipo, trumpet and Lynn Blair, soprano.

In the "Coffe Cantata," the soloists will be Miss Rosenfeld, Miss Blair, William Cunift, tenor, and John Wilson, baritone. Also on the Friday program will be a Trio Sonata by Telemann for violin, flute and harpsichord.

For the "Coffee Cantata," one of Bach's few secular cantatas, the singers will appear in costume. The Cantata tells the story of a young girl who insists on drinking coffee against her father's command, and when he threatens to keep her from finding a husband, "she relents—only to continue coffee-drinking in secret.

This Saturday at 9, the Open Theatre will perform "Viet Rock," described as a "folk-war-movie." The Open Theatre company has been performing at the Martinique Theatre, the Sheridan Square Playhouse and Cafe La Mama in New York, exploring new theatrical techniques.

Saturdays at Sundance will be devoted to new directors in the American arts, and Fridays will be given to concerts of chamber music.

"LION IN WINTER"

In Bucks County, Next on the boards at the Bucks County Playhouse is New Hope, will be "The Lion in Winter," a witty chronicle of King Henry II and Eleanor of Aquitaine.

George C. Scott will play the aging King Henry, and Colleen Dewhurst will portray Eleanor. Bucks fans will recall Miss Dewhurst as Martha in last year's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and in previous years in "Witness for the Prosecution" and "A view from the Bridge."

With Mr. Scott, she played off-Broadway in "Desire Under the Elms" and both of them won Obie awards for their characterizations.

"The Lion in Winter," produced last season on Broadway, concerns the machinations of King Henry II in choosing a successor to the throne from among his three sons. "It has enough wit to deal blows with," observed Walter Kerr of the Herald Tribune.

SUCCESS, TO MUSIC

"How to Succeed. . . ." J. Pierpont Finch's rise to the top will be examined, starting next Tuesday, July 5, at the Lambertville Music Circus when "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" will open a two-week engagement.

"I Believe in You," the song that Finch sings to his reflection in the mirror, sets the tone for the Frank Loesser musical. Finch is the climber who starts leap-frogging to the top at the World Wide Wicket Company armed with nothing but brash and a book on how to succeed.

Loesser has also written "Coffee Break," "Been a Long Day," in which everybody sings his inner thoughts, and "A Secretary Is Not a Toy," which may or may not be true.

Performances are at 8:30 Tuesday through Friday, with a 2 p.m. matinee Wednesdays. Saturday, the curtain goes up twice: 6 and 9:45 p.m., and on Sunday, once: at 7:30. Tickets may be reserved by calling 397-1500 or writing to the Music Circus at Lambertville.

Ups and Downs

At Mayme Mead, they have it on good authority from a man who has it on good authority from Paris, that hemlines may go down.

Seems only natural: where else could they go from where they are? Anyhow, the Mayme Mead informant says the new length will probably be two inches below the knees, if you can believe it. Think how all those let-down hemlines will show the let-down crease!

Time-lag being what it is, the new lengths will probably not hit the eastern seaboard for about two years, so you have plenty of time to wear out the shorties.

It's New To Us

tunic with a slit up from each knee and shorts underneath. It's a print of little pink leaves and roses, very prim considering the depth of the slits.

HANG TWO

One from Esch Ear. Earings at Bamberger's dangle almost to the knee, and whistle when the wind blows.

One pair is a stack of discs, ovals and beads in black and white plastic, and they just about escape the shoulder. Another pair is like a giant poker chip — yep, just a great big yellow. If they catch the wind right, you'll sail clean off.

Shades of wood make a nice dangly pair to match a redhead. Huge black shoe-buckles about two-plus inches square would shine wickedly against sun-bleached hair.

These earrings have been made for pierced and pierced-look, so everybody has a chance.

To go with, or to wear alone, Bamberger's has Coro's papier mache summertime pins, wonderful against stark white jersey. We like the big, lumpy orange starfire, but maybe you'll choose the flower.

MAILBOX

Watch for Dognappers.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Eight large dogs were "lost" in the area of Princeton over a period of only one month. One family lost two dogs.

Jeanne Graves, the "Good Fairy" of the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League, who finds homes for lost or strayed dogs, says this is no mere coincidence. Dognappers are on the prowl for dogs to sell to laboratories.

Keep tabs on your dog. Overriding all special interests of dognappers, dogsellers, medical laboratories and multitudinous researchers, is each citizen's responsibility for his own dog.

While you're keeping tabs on your dog, light one little candle for the humane treatment of all animals. Write your State Senator and Congressman (name and address below) to urge support of H.R. 10049 and S. 2576, the RODGERS-MCINTYRE BILL, now before your United State Congress.

This bill reserves your support in the crusade for more humane handling of animals in research laboratories and for federal control of the traffic in stealing dogs that is growing and becomes more brutal and corrupt as research laboratories (even including high school classrooms) demand more and more live animals for research.

The dog you save may be your own! If there's anything worse than concern over losing one's dog, it's concern that he might be taken to a laboratory for live experimentation, even by in experienced high school students.

strife, Mrs. Bernice G. Miller, extended a peace offering. "I hope everyone will try to make the new regional school system serve the educational needs of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township and of as many of the sending districts as we can accommodate." A board member since 1959, she said, "I have always valued the privilege of serving the people of the Borough."

Moving with dispatch and no sentiment through a 21-item agenda, the Board passed resolutions turning over to the Regional Board all board records and school funds, including a surplus of approximately $100,000. ("Looks like a fairly nice dowry . . ." Charles Cornforth said from the audience.

Staff Completed. It hired a new dentist, Dr. Gilbert A. Falcone, a graduate of Temple University Dental School, replacing the late Dr. Edward L. Leahy. This completes the roster of special staff (doctors, dentists, psychologists, nurses, speech and reading therapists, cafeteria directors, etc.) which the two merging school systems present in duplicate to the Regional Board.

The annual $35,000 due yearly for 25 years from Princeton University in payments on the Nassau Street School was assigned to the Mayor and Council. Council action was scheduled for the next day at a special session. The funds are allocated to school tax needs.

Legal matters still pending, Attorney William Miller reminded the Board, are: change in the Borough-Township line to bring John Witherspoon School within Borough limits (laughter by all, including Mr. Miller); final approval of the performance of the school's general contractor, B & J Builders, and the disposal of the old Witherspoon School. These items will be carried through the Regional Board.

Moving on, the Board opened painting and milk bids.

certified its last graduating class at Princeton High School, met the July 1 deadline of the State Board of Education by formalizing its teachers grievance policy, and endorsed the High School PTA campaign for full-time juvenile officers in the Borough and Township.

Miss Godley Retires. Miss Isabel Godley's retirement as a kindergarten teacher after 35 years was announced with regret. Resignations were received from Mrs. Carol Drewnink and Rocco Marucci, who will teach in the new Lawrence Township High School; Miss Claire Biagini, who leaves to be married, and Miss Judith Bauman, to begin work for a publishing house. Appointments included five teachers, two custodians and a messenger-truck driver. William Brooks was named head custodian of the new John Witherspoon School.

After a fast run-through on John Witherspoon School landscaping, Title I authorizations for 1966-67, and a miscellany of communications, the last meeting of the Borough's last school board was adjourned. Absent from the session were Graham Rohrer, who is in Germany, and Dr. E. Frederick Laschever.

CAN'T BEAT THE HEAT?

Then Win $100 With It. A possible $100 prize awaits the person who correctly predicts the time when the temperature will first hit 95 degrees on the newly-installed time-temperature sign at the Nassau Savings and Loan building, 194 Nassau Street.

The "How-Good-a-Weatherman-Are-You?" contest, sponsored by Nassau Savings, will begin July 11 and last through September 2. The prize for the red-hot predicter will be a $100 addition to his account if he is a saver at the association and a $50 new account if he isn't. In the case of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Contestants are asked to pick the exact minute recorded on the new sign when the temperature first hits the 95-mark. There is no limit on the number of entries, but they must be postmarked at least 48 hours prior to the day the temperature reaches 95 degrees.

Should Princeton have a cool summer and no 95-plus days, the winner of the contest will be the one with the guess closest to the earliest date with the highest temperature. Entry forms are available in the lobby of Nassau Savings or in the advertisement on page 16 of this issue.

APARTMENT IS LOOTED

On Witherspoon Street. Andrew Cobziar, told Borough police Sunday that his second-floor apartment at 184 Witherspoon Street had been entered over the weekend.

He reported several articles of clothing missing which he valued at $184. Pvt. William Hunter investigated.

On Monday, William P. Jacobs, 72 Western Way, reported the theft of an attache case and pair of sunglasses from his car which he had left parked in front of his home. Township police said the theft occured June 20.

THE NEW MATH

Sales Tax to Begin. Is 3% of 17 cents really a penny? And if it is, how can 3% of 40 cents also be a penny?

New Jersey residents will find a new use for pennies and arithmetic this Friday as the 3% state sales tax goes into effect. For the first 16 cents, you ride free. If it costs any amount from 17 to 40 cents, you pay an additional penny. A detailed scale has been worked out from there, and shop-keeping and shopping will take on a new and delightful complexity.

"What Will I Pay Tax On"?

- Home furnishings. A couch or a portable air-conditioner, a blanket or a saucepan.
- Cosmetics.
- Plumbing repair done on a leaky faucet.
- The roofer's charge for replacing a shingle blown off

What DON'T I Pay A Tax On?

- Clothing.
- The fuel you use to heat your house.
- The rent you pay for your home.
- The purchase of a home.
- Most food you buy to eat at home.
- The alcoholic drink you buy in a restaurant. (But the meal is taxable!)
- Haircuts. Beauty-parlor services.
- College textbooks.
- Gas, light, water and telephone bills.
- Prescription drugs.
- Lawn-mowing or snow-shoveling, or similar activity by a non-professional; that is the boy from YES or the kid down the block.
- A new heating system for your home or a new porch.
- Laundry and dry-cleaning.

A FIREMAN'S FIREMAN: Ernie Drake — well, it's Ernest F. Drake, but everyone calls him "Ernie" — was the oldest marcher Friday at the annual firemen's inspection and parade. Mr. Drake, 87 years old, has been a member of Mercer Company No. 1 for 65 years' of fire-fighting. He rode in the cab, but he was considered a marcher, none the less.

To Have and Have Not. Needless to say, there are a lot of grey areas in these two lists. For example, you pay a tax on home repairs (those shingles blown off in a storm), but not on capital improvements (that new heating system). Where does a repair leave off and a capital improvement begin?

You don't pay a tax to the kid down the block who mows the lawn, but suppose he gets so much business he has a thriving little professional thing going? When do you start paying tax on what he does?

If you buy, say, a camera out of the state and bring it home to New Jersey, the law says you must pay the tax, but who's to know?

Naturally, non-profit organizations are exempt from a whole list of things. The restaurant meal on which you pay a tax is not taxed if it's a church supper. The college athletic event is taxed, but the high school game is tax-free (provided proceeds go to the school) and so is the church dance.

Generally speaking, you pay a tax on a sport if you just watch: horse racing, baseball, football. If you join right in — bowling, roller skating, ice skating, swimming — you don't pay a tax. But if you cross the alley and rent a pair of bowling shoes — the rental is taxed.

No tax on haircuts or beauty-parlor services. But a tax on cosmetics.

Most companies that move furniture also store it "mov-

ELEPHANT KILLS GIRL

Child Dies in Zoo. Ruth E. Freedman, 3-year old daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Ralph Freedman, was killed almost instantly Tuesday in Madison, Wis., when she was mauled by a 7,500-lb. elephant.

Witnesses said the elephant reached through the bars of its cage and seized the child in its trunk. The little girl was then lifted high in the air and slammed to the ground.

The county coroner said that Ruth and several other children had climbed beneath a chicken-wire fence erected to keep visitors out of the reach of the elephant and other animals in the zoo. She was attempting to feed the elephant popcorn at the time.

Alvin Nelson, the zoo director, said that the 23-year old elephant, "Winkle," could not lift its trunk above the cage, but the bars are about a foot apart. When the little girl came within reach, the elephant wrapped its trunk around her and pulled her through.

The animal's trainer entered the cage and brought the girl's body out. He said that as he walked toward the elephant, she trumpeted and backed away — "as if she knew she had done something wrong."

A doctor applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external heart massage but Ruth was dead on arrival at a Madison hospital. The coroner said she died of massive internal injuries.

Prof. Freedman and his wife, Laura, live at 393 Walnut Lane. Appointed to the University faculty last year, he is a member of the Department of English.

The family had left Princeton two weeks ago to spend the summer in Madison, while Prof. Freedman taught at the University of Wisconsin. Two boys, Jonathan, 11, and Mark, 10, are other near survivors.

YOUTH IS KILLED

In Lawrenceville Crash. John J Killan, 17, of Iselin, was killed early Saturday morning when the car he was driving went out of control and smashed into a pair of service poles on Main Street, Lawrenceville. He was pronounced dead at Princeton Hospital shortly after 4 a.m.

Two of Killan's passengers were severly injured. John Walsh, 19, of Metuchen, and Donald Perry, 18, of Iselin, were taken to Trenton's Helene Fuld Hospital where their condition was listed as critical. A fourth youth, Joseph Spanko, 20, of Metchen was treated at Princeton Hospital for minor injuries and released.

According to the police, Killan's convertible was demolished when it ran off the right shoulder of the roadway just north of Cold Soil Road and rammed into the public service poles. Police quoted Spanko as saying the four had been driving around most of the night.

TO DISCUSS AID

For Study Center. Possible Federal support for the Princeton Study Center will be discussed this Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church at a public meeting called by the Princeton Community Action Council.

Students from the Study Center and their parents are invited to attend. The Center is applying for partial support under the Economic Opportunity Act.

CITIZENS TO MEET

Planning Board Group. About 30 representatives of various Princeton organizations are scheduled to gather at 8 p.m. this Wednesday in Township Hall to organize, formally, the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Township Planning Board.

This is the group that grew out of the protests made at zoning hearings about the housing plight of Princeton's mid-low income families, and the disagreements voiced by architects and other planners about planning in the Princeton community.

Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board, will preside, but he hopes to get a nominating committee appointed immediately to set up a structure of officers and committees.

"We hope the Advisory Committee will be in high gear by fall," Mr. Sander said.

ADDICT IS CAUGHT

Leaving Graduate School. An unemployed, card-carrying narcotics user was caught late Monday morning leaving a window of the Graduate College by H. Walter Dodwell, security officer of Princeton University.

Theodore O. Turner, 27, of Trenton, was placed on probation for one year and fined $12 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tomaj, following his hearing Monday night in Borough court. He had been charged with failing to give a good account of himself. Turner, whose criminal record dates back to August, 1958, when he was first arrested for using narcotics, and who since has been arrested 24 times, denied the charge.

Because of a recent series of thefts around the Graduate College, Lt. Francis Maguire of the Borough reported police had been keeping the area under surveillance. Turner was spotted entering the building shortly after 11 a.m.

Summer Municipal Hours

Princeton Borough and Township municipal offices will close at 4 p.m. during the summer months. The 9-4 schedule begins this Friday.

SKY TO EXPLODE AGAIN

With Stadium Fireworks. The annual Independence Day celebration in Princeton will center around Palmer Stadium again this year as American Legion Post 76 stages its annual fireworks display. Preceding the fireworks will be a concert by the Princeton Community Band under the direction of George W. Stoetz.

Continuing the tradition begun in 1929, Dean Iorio of the Flemington Fireworks Company will put on the display for Post 76. Spectators will be treated to "Bursting Meteors," which send forth speeding comets into the sky that burst

THREE FINED $50 On Drug Rose. Three men were fined $50 each Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for attempting to obtain drugs under false pretenses early in June from the Thorne Pharmacy.

Fined were Anthony Yanez, 28, of Somerset, and Robert J. Reid, 23, and Patrick Ferrullo, 25, both of New Brunswick. All had been charged by Pfc. Stanley Donald with failing to give good a account of themselves.

According to police, the three called Thorne's June 6 and ordered prescriptions for a barbitunte and a cough syrup containing alcohol and codeine, using the name of a fictitious doctor. The pharmacists on duty became suspicious and notified police.

Police said when the two are mixed a person becomes "high". They cited the two pharmacists for their role in the apprehension and prosecution of the trio.

In traffic court, Johnnie E. Rorie, 26, 35 Leigh Avenue was fined $15 each on charges of no muffler and unlicensed driver.

A stop-sign violation cost Helen Van Cleve, 57, Carson Road, $15, while Robert Cohen paid two fines: $15 for late inspection and $10 unnecessary horn blowing. The latter offense also cost James R. Scullin, 18, 86 Cedar Lane, $10.

Convention Planned Next Week. All members of the 82nd Airborne Division Association in the Princeton area have been invited to attend the 20th annual convention of the group in Atlantic City, July 5-7.

Gen. James M. Gavin, former leader of the 82nd who made all five of the division's major combat jumps during World War II — Sicily, Italy, Normandy, Holland and the Rhine — will be the principal speaker. He is now chairman of the board of Arthur D. Little, Inc., electronics manufacturers in Cambridge, Mass.

LIMITATIONS DISCUSSED: Peter J. McCrohan (left), Borough Police Chief, and Fred M. Porter, Township Detective, give their views on Supreme Court ruling which sets strict regulations governing questions that suspects may be required to answer. For their viewpoints — and the layman's opinion — see below. (Staff Photos)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the Supreme Court's decision to limit the right of police to question suspects?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Fred M. Porter Jr., 202 Birch Avenue, detective, Township police: However ridiculous it sounds and seems, this law was designed to protect the constitutional rights of the people. But it is a great shame that the only persons who benefit most from laws such as these are the criminals — not the good and law-abiding citizens. As police, this is a problem we face when sympathy for the unfortunate merges into favoritism for the criminal.

Peter J. McCrohan, 278 Hamilton Avenue, Borough police chief: It's a Supreme Court ruling and naturally we will abide by that ruling, although it is hard to conceive. The police are not lawyers; it is very difficult for them sometimes to know what to do on the spur of the moment and still comply with all these restrictions. However, we will comply as we have always done. Actually, this is nothing new — we've been doing this for two years at least (see box). The only difference that I can see is that if a person is indigent, he must be supplied with a lawyer if he wants one. This is a crucial point as there is no doubt in my mind that it will present problems as to who must supply the attorney. Possibly the public will in time become so aroused about the protection they are receiving for their tax dollar that they will bring pressure upon the proper channels to alleviate these rulings. There's no doubt they make it very difficult for us. The public is entitled to some protection, too.

William Walker Jr., Willingboro, employee, Woolworth's Nassau Street: It's ridiculous. If you can't question somebody about what he's done, then how can you hold him? It's completely ridiculous. The police should have every right in the world to question a suspect, whether he's innocent or guilty.

Do You Understand . . .?

The recent Supreme Court ruling limiting the right of police to question suspects will have little effect on the procedure used by the Borough police. For the past two years, Borough police, before questioning any suspect about a crime have read the following statement:

"Before I question you, I want to advise you that you have the right to refuse to make a statement or answer any questions and that you have the right to the advice of a lawyer before you answer. However, if you give a statement, it must be of you own free will and not induced by threats of any kind or by promises of hope or reward, and such statement may be used as evidence against you in a possible criminal prosecution.

"Do you understand this and do you wish to give a statement at this time?"

Mrs. Lawrence Toth, N. Harrison Street, secretary: I don't agree with it. I don't think there should be any limit. The police have their job and we're stopping them from doing it. The police just don't stop and question anybody: they usually have a good reason. They're just trying to do their job.

James Shriver, 635 Snowden Lane, advertising executive: I think it's a good idea, in general, to protect the rights of people accused of crime. On the other hand, I think it's ridiculous if it means a cop has someone dead to rights—as if he had just caught somebody robbing Clayton's—and he can't question him if he doesn't have a lawyer.

Carl Fredericksen, 40 Brookstone Drive, graduate student, University of Illinois: I think I am more concerned with the rights of the individual and not particularly concerned with the convenience of the police. And if this means spending more money to make up for the deficiencies caused the police, then let's spend more money. It's for a good cause—individual freedom!

John Stephen, Newtown, Pa., chauffeur for ETS: I don't agree. I think it is too restrictive on the police.

James Bloor, Borough patrolman: I don't like it. It makes it harder to do my job, . . . a lot harder!

Samuel Reed, 364 Nassau Street, teacher: I'm pleased that it emphasizes an individual's rights in this country. I am more pleased with it from the point of view of a citizen than I am displeased with it as a sympathizer with the problems of the police.

MORE AWARDS MADE

By Women's College Club. The Women's College Club completed its presentation of scholarships totalling $1800 this month when it honored two Princeton High School seniors.

Susan C. Heinemann was named recipient of the Half-Century Merit Award which honors the Club's 50 years of service to education. The award is made to the girl of "excellent scholastic standing and outstanding personality" as recommended by the school. Miss Heinemann also received the President's Pin for having attained the highest scholastic average in her class. She will attend Wellesley College this fall.

Benay P. Abrams was presented the Founder's Award, given to a girl of "high scholarship, one who also manifests qualities of unusual character and leadership which indicate future usefulness." She will enter the University of Michigan in the fall.

$5,000 GIFT PRESENTED To Princeton Hospital. The Benwood Foundation, which holds the controlling interest of The Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Inc., of Chattanooga, Tenn., has made a gift of $5,000 to Princeton Hospital to "initiate the hospital's annual giving for capital expenditures program."

In making the presentation of the check to George W. Conover, president of trustees for the hospital, William Pearce, regional manager for Coca-Cola, said "We were very pleased to have had the opportunity to relocate our New York Regional Office in Princeton. We are particularly pleased that, through this contribution, we have an opportunity to show our community interest." Mr. Pearce has his office at 1 Palmer Square.

In accepting the check, Mr. conover stated that the goal clerk-typist, Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation: I don't think it's right for the police to be allowed to question someone without that person first being permitted to contact a lawyer or someone outside the police, because lot's of people might be taken in. They might not have had anything to do with what they are accused of, yet they might say something to indicate they were involved, and though it would come out later, it is on their record and could be used against them in court. I agree that it is better that everyone be told they have the right to consult a lawyer before they say anything.

Coleman Gay, Claremont, Calif. college administrator: I agree with the decision. I think the results will be better protection for the rights of the individual.

Joseph Shedlarski, graduate student, bio-chemistry: I don't think it is a good idea. Certainly, if anybody is suspected of a crime, the police have the duty to extract all the information possible from these suspects—it's for our protection that they do this. I feel this will severely restrict the function of the police force in this respect.

G. W. McLay, 175 Harrison Street, research associate: I'm from Britain and this seems to me very much the same situation there—a person has to be warned he doesn't have to say anything, he has the right to obtain a lawyer and so on. I think it's quite reasonable. I don't believe it hampers the police as much as they contend.

William Coombs, Trenton, accountant for Princeton University: I don't think they should be limited in their questioning of suspects, not if they have reason to believe he is involved in a crime. I feel that's the policeman's job, as long as he stays within the limit of his authority and doesn't abuse the suspect.

of the annual giving program which will be launched this fall is $75,000. The sum will applied to carrying charges of the $1,450,000 loan on the new patient care wing already being erected and for the purchase of capitol equipment for the new building and other hospital facilities.

Ground for the new hospital addition was broken on March 28, and excavation and foundation work for the 2½-story wing are nearing completion. The building will provide the hospital with 42 additional medical and surgical beds and enlarged modern x-ray and laboratory facilities. Overall cost for the project is $2,701,300.

Other officers elected were Donald Large, Morrisville; Frank Hinek, Washington; James Foran, Lambertville; and Richard Chorlton, Princeton, vice-presidents; Kenneth L. Burkhead, Levittown; Edward Pericoloso, Trenton; and W. Harry Bloor, Pennington, treasurers.

Newly elected members of the executive board are Anthony Acquaviva, Edward V. Beach, Charles B. Gilbert Jr., Mr. Pericoloso, John H. Rufe, Adam Siodlowski, Calvin Thomas and Harry S. Waters.

CIVIC GROUP ORGANIZED In West Windsor. Residents of the Edinburg area in West Windsor have formed the "Greater Edinburg Civic Association" to keep those living in the area aware of what is happening in their community.

Activities of the new group will be aimed at alerting residents to new developments that affect the area and to achieving better communication and participation by Edinburg residents in area affairs. Information on the association's activities may be obtained by calling John Rosko at 448-2199.

HOME CARE OFFERED By Princeton Hospital. A hospital-based home care program, providing medical, nursing and social services for patients of all ages will be inaugurated by Princeton Hospital on July 1. The hospital will work co-operatively with the Visiting Nurse Association and Homemaker Service.

Directing the program will be Dr. Benjamin M. Wright, attending physician in internal medicine. He will work with a Home Care Advisory Committee consisting of physicians from the community, and trustees and administrative officers representing the three co-ordinating agencies.

Medicare for elderly persons will provide up to 100 home care visits in a one-year period following hospitalization for at least three days and other qualifications.

The objectives of the new program include restoring patients to normal family living and useful activity as soon as possible, furnishing the same quality of care at a lower cost, and releasing hospital beds for those who need them. Eligibility of a patient for home care will be determined by the Home Care Admission Committee consisting of the medical director, the program social worker and the nurse-director of Princeton Visiting Nurse Association.

Discharge from the program is expected to take place when a patient has improved sufficiently to return to a private physician's office or to an outpatient clinic when hospitalization is required, or when the family cannot continue to accept their part in caring for the patient.

Among the services which will be available to the home care patient are medical specialist consultation physical and occupational therapy, nutrition consultation, home

You, Your Hospital, and Medicare

Princeton Hospital has been certified for participation in the new federal health insurance program (Medicare) by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Security Administration. The program becomes effective July 1, 1966. Your hospital is providing the following summary of Medicare benefits as a service to the community it serves. We suggest you keep this information handy for reference.

MEDICARE BENEFITS

Medicare provides four kinds of benefits to help pay your hospital bills and three kinds of benefits to help pay doctors' bills and other medical needs.

Hospital Insurance (Medicare Part A)

Inpatient Hospital Benefits

(Inpatient means you are admitted to the hospital as a bed patient for a day or more)

Medicare will pay the cost for up to 90 days during each "spell of illness" with the following exceptions: the patient must pay the first $40 for services rendered during the first 60 days; from the 61st day to the 90th day, the patient must pay $10 per day toward the cost of care. The $40 deductible will be payable upon admission to the hospital except in emergencies.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Room and board in a semiprivate room (two to four beds in a room).
Nursing services.
Supplies, appliances, and equipment, such as splints, casts, wheelchairs, crutches, etc.
Medical social services.
Blood transfusions, except for the first three pints of blood in a "spell of illness." (There is no charge for blood at Princeton Hospital.)
Therapeutic services, such as X-ray or radium treatments.
Operating room costs.
Drugs furnished by the hospital.
Diagnostic services, such as blood tests, electrocardiograms, etc.
Services of hospital residents and interns who are in approved training programs.

MEDICARE WILL NOT COVER:

Physicians' and surgeons' services. (Your medical insurance will help to pay your doctor bills.)
Private room, furnished at your request, unless it is medically necessary. (If you request a private room, you will pay the difference between the private and semiprivate rates).
Private duty nurses.
Cost of first three pints of blood. (If a donor replaces the blood the hospital would not charge you for it.) There is no charge for blood at Princeton Hospital.
Personal comfort or convenience items which you request, such as telephone, radio, or television in your room.

Outpatient Hospital Diagnostic Benefits

(Outpatient means you are served or treated at the hospital, but not admitted as a bed patient.)

These benefits are paid for a 20-day period, during which you receive outpatient diagnostic service from the same hospital. For each 20-day period, the patient pays the first $20 and Medicare will pay 80 percent of the remaining cost.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Diagnostic X-ray. Blood tests.

Medicare Insurance (Medicare Part B)

Unlike the hospital insurance, you must voluntarily enroll in Medicare's medical insurance program and you must pay a basic portion of the cost in order to obtain the services. When you sign up you agree to pay $3 a month to the federal government. You will be billed by the government and no agents or individuals will call on you to collect this payment.

Your medical insurance will pay 80 percent of your expenses for covered services each year, after you meet the $50 deductible. Your medical insurance payments will be based on reasonable charges. Benefit claims may be paid directly to you or to your doctor by assignment.

Your Benefits for Doctor Bills

Benefits may be paid for the medical services you receive from a physician in a hospital, in an extended care facility or nursing home, in his office, in your home or in a clinic. You may select your own physician, but he must be legally authorized to practice medicine or osteopathy in his State.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Medical and surgical services by a physician — wherever they are furnished.

Services in connection with a physician's treatment, such as: diagnostic tests, medical supplies, the services of his nurse, drugs which cannot be self-administered, and similar services which he would ordinarily include in his bill.

Dental surgery by a doctor of dental medicine or a doctor of dental surgery, but only if it involves major dental surgery, such as an operation for the jaw.

MEDICARE WILL NOT COVER:

Routine Physical checkups. Routine dental care. Immunizations.

Eye examinations for prescribing or fitting eyeglasses.
Hearing examination for hearing aids.
Services of practitioners such as chiropractors, naturopaths, chiropodists or podiatrists, optometrists, Christian Science practitioners.

Other Medical Services and Supplies

This medical insurance benefit helps you pay for a number of different medical services and supplies which may be necessary in the treatment of an illness or injury.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Diagnostic tests as X-rays and laboratory tests (unless covered by hospital insurance.)
X-ray and other radiation therapy.
Surgical dressings, splints, casts and similar devices.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Diagnostic X-rays.
Pulmonary function tests.
Electrocardiograms.
Blood tests.
Kidney fuction tests.
Urinalysis.

Other tests given to determine the nature and severity of an ailment or injury.

MEDICARE WILL NOT COVER:

Physicians' services. (Your medical insurance will help to pay for physicians' services.)
Tests given as a part of routine physical checkups.
Services not related to the diagnosis of your condition.

Home Health Benefits after Hospitalization

Medicare will pay up to 100 home care visits in a one-year period following your most recent hospitalization, providing you were in the hospital at least three days and your physician arranges for the service within 14 days after you leave the hospital.

MEDICARE WILL COVER:

Part-time nursing care.
Physicial, occupational, or speech therapy.
Services of home health aides (in conjuction with your treatment.)
Medical social services.
Medical supplies, except drugs.
Use of medical appliances.
Any of the above rehabilitation services outside your home which require equipment that cannot be brought to your home.

MEDICARE WILL NOT COVER:

Physicians' services. (Your medical insurance will help to pay your doctor bills.)
Full-time nursing care.
Personal comfort items.
Prescription drugs.
General housekeeping services.
Services furnished by a home health agency operated primarily for the treatment of mental illness.
Meals delivered to your home (sometimes called "meals on wheels".)

Extended Care Benefits after Hospitalization

(Not covered by Medicare until January 1, 1967)

Additional Medicare Information

YOUR IDENTIFICATION:

This card should be with you so you can show it to the people at the hospital, doctor's office or any other place where you receive Medicare service. If you do not have a health insurance card you should notify your social security district office.

IF YOU NEED MORE INFORMATION:

Full information about Medicare is contained in the government handbook "Health Insurance Under Social Security", which the government is providing to each person in the Medicare program.

At Princeton Hospital each Medicare patient (beneficiary) will be presented with an itemized bill showing which charges are covered by hospital insurance, which charges are covered by medical insurance, and which part the patient must pay himself.

Several diagnotic and therapeutic medical services at Princeton Hospital are provided by doctor specialists based at the hospital. These include certain professional, individual services provided in the x-ray, laboratory and physical medicine departments and the reading and interpretation of tests and reports such as electrocardiograms (EKG) and electroencephalograms (EEG).

Under Medicare it is necessary that the hospital separate charges for administrative and professional departmental services from charges for direct professional patient service. How To Survive

Talking about the increased dangers of nighttime driving we referred to reports on night vision by the Highway Research Board. They said that when cars going in opposite directions at night have their high beams on, the drivers' vision can be impaired when the cars are as much as 1½ miles apart. So lower that beam, and remember that the fellow who doesn't and who causes an accident, can be as badly hurt as the innocent driver. And don't keep your high beam on to punish the offender, you'll only double the chances of an accident; the inconsiderate driver will get into trouble soon enough without you. Our aim is to be helpful here, just as we hope to serve you well in business. Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

Reproductions Of Early American Furniture

At Cane Farm, woodworking is a labor of love. You just can't turn out custom furniture on an assembly line basis. Each detailed step is hand-tooled with the techniques of days gone by. If you think this artistry has passed from the current scene, come visit us and see the fine work we turn out. In our new all-electric showroom, a converted farm building, you can browse among samples of the twenty-five or more different pieces we make. And you're perfectly welcome to take a look at our woodworking facilities, too. But don't expect to see a slam-bang operation! Old-time craftsmanship requires T.L.C.*

ACT AGAINST THIS UNSPEAKABLE WAR!

The current disorders and political unrest in South Vietnam evidence the fact that a military regime supported by troops of a foreign power cannot command the loyalty and respect of the Vietnamese people. Termination of U.S. military intervention in Vietnam must take place immediately if military withdrawal is to be arranged with any guarantees whatever against completel political and social chaos.

There is evidence that U.S. calls for negotiations have been lacking in credibility because they have been accompanied by escalation of the war and the refusal of the U.S. government to admit that the National Liberation Front is entitled to participate in a political settlement. Therefore, we call upon the government to take immdiately the following steps which are necessary preconditions to ending the war and creating a situation in which self-determination for the Vietnamese people may be possible:

- Cease bombing of both North and South Vietnam immediately, announcing that the cessation is permanent;
- Stop sending additional American troops and material to Vietnam and announce that phased withdrawal of present forces will begin immediately;
- State willingness to participate in a political settlement based upon the Geneva Accords and Declaration with all parties concerned, including the N.L.F. as an independent party;
- Agree to abide by the results of any election which may be held by an interim government representative of all factions, including the N.L.F.

Will you make your voice heard in Washington by writing or wiring the President, your Senators, your Congressman and your candidates endorsing this statement?

FAST-DRY COURTS OPEN

At Community Park. The nine fast-dry tennis courts being constructed by the Princeton Recreation Department at Community Park were scheduled to open Wednesday of this week. They are available to residents of the Borough and Township who have purchased season tickets or pay the daily admission fee.

Daily fees for the fast-dry courts are 50 cents per hour for adults 16 and over on weekdays and $1 per hour on weekends and holidays. For children under 16, the cost will be 25 cents and 50 cents. For guests the rate will be $1 per hour on weekdays and $1.50 on weekends and holidays. For guests under 16 the cost will be 50 cents and 75 cents.

Season tickets cost $7.50 for adults 16 or over and $5 for those under 16. A Family Plan ticket embracing the parents and all children under 21 may be purchased for $10. Purchases of season tickets — again limited to Borough and Township residents — will be issued a card, which must be carried by the individual. See page 31 for a registration coupon.

"These are fair prices," commented Recreation Director R. Donald Barr. "These courts are as fine as you will find anywhere in this area. The contractors have all done excellent jobs."

The six hard-surface courts are scheduled to be completed July 15. Open all year round when playable, these courts will be available at no charge on a first-come basis to Borough and Township residents except during designated times set by the Recreation Department.

The fast-dry courts will be open from April through October. When deemed playable by the department, they will be open daily from 9 a.m. until dark.

The fast-dry courts are laid out in tiers of three each. The three nearest to Route 206 will have space for seating, so placed that the area will not be bothered by the sun. A ten-foot high practice wall is included in the tennis complex.

Lists governing conduct and prohibitions will be posted at the site. Two worth noting: residents with season tickets may have guests on the courts anytime, but they must play on the same court as their hosts. Basketball sneakers will not be allowed on the fast-dry courts, only low canvas tennis sneakers.

And The Pools? With days of 90-degree heat and higher piling on top of one another, the burning question for many remains — when are the pools going to open? Mr. Barr reported that Costello Associates, architects and consultant to the pools, still believe that the last reported opening date of July 15 will be met.

A more realistic date, according to Barr, would be at least three days later, possibly a couple more. It will take three days alone to fill the huge olympic-size main pool.

"It's a problem of coordinating a lot of little things," Mr. Barr said. He mentioned delays in the delivery of essential material such as the coping around the pool and wooden trusses for the bath house. And the time-consuming task of testing everything to make certain it meets standards of quality control.

As an example, he cited testing the entire plumbing of the pool complex under 100 pounds pressure. "Most pool designers test at 75 pounds, he continued," but our consultant felt we should use 100. As a result, we have plugs popping out all over the place trying to maintain that pressure, and it takes time.

"Sure, we could drop it to 75 pounds to save time but when it will affect quality, that's when I draw the line and say no. Once it's covered up, I don't want anything to happen

ETS LOSES TWICE

In Single Softball Game, Educational Testing Service suffered a double blow in the Business Softball League last week as it dropped a 4-2 decision to RCA Astro and lost the services of shortstop Jim Lazur for the season. Lazur, who will be married on July 2, broke his leg sliding into second base had to be operated on at Princeton Hospital. He is expected to be in a cast for three months.

Elsewhere around the circuit, the Western Division galneded three other triumphs over the East while losing only two in inter-division play. Leading the way were Columbian Carbon, Accelerator and RCA A.

Columbian Carbon stretched 16 hits for 17 runs and a 17-3 victory over RCA B, which leads the Eastern Division. Don Waltz, credited with the verdict, received support from Alex Golembski, who went 3 for 4 with a home run and six RBI's, and Jack Weaver, who also got three hits in four trips, including two doubles.

Wally Reichert picked up his fourth straight win as he hurled RCA A to a 12-6 decision over Hopewell TV. Reichert's pitching and 2 for 4 at the plate, coupled with Max Hopkins' and Steve Conner's 3 for 4 performances, offset Hopewell's 12 hits.

A five-run fifth inning made the difference in the Accelerator-American Cyanamid clash as Accelerator stepped on the gas to win, 10-7. The big blows in the uprising were a bases-loaded double by Joe Frangipani and a home run by Carl Schuler. Barry Hibbs also homered for the winners.

Salvaging one of the two victories for the East was Shell Chemical, which won a tight contest over McGraw Hill, 4-3. Shell got nine hits in the game to snap a 4-game losing streak. With the score tied 3-3, Shell Pitcher Bob Sabo hit a ground-rule double and was singled home by Bob Parawski.

GAS
150th ANNIVERSARY

First used in street lighting 150 years ago, gas today is a versatile energy source at home and on the job.

In June 1816, America's first gas utility, the Gas Light Company of Baltimore, was authorized to light the city's streets. This month, we celebrate the 150th anniversary of the gas industry.

Innovations in the use of gas brought the industry a long way. It has become the sixth largest in the country. Gas, the versatile energy source, both heats and cools residential and business buildings . . . it cooks meals in homes and restaurants . . . it heats water . . . it dries clothes . . . and huge quantities of gas are utilized to make thousands of useful products.

Representing our 1,230,000 gas customers, we say "Congratulations" on the gas industry's 150th birthday.

win was Western Electric, which emerged on top in a battle of the cellar-dwellers. Western Electric had 28 hits to rout Opinion Research Corporation, 25-2. ORC has yet to win a game in eight outings. Supplying the punch for Western Electric were Frank Panella, with two home runs, and single home runs by Don Machusak and Rich Corboy, while Bob Newton tripled for the losers.

DOUBLES ON TAP

In Summer Tournaments. The men's doubles and women's doubles tournaments in the YMCA-sponsored community tennis championships at the University Courts will begin on Tuesday.

Entries accompanied with a $1 registration fee must be in by Sunday. All participants must supply one can of new tennis balls.

PLAY STARTS THURSDAY

In Summer Lacrosse. The Princeton Summer Lacrosse League will start its second season Thursday at 5:30 at Marquand Park where all of its games will be played. Each Thursday for the next seven weeks, the four teams will play each other in a double-header.

Director Hawley Waterman announces there is still time for those interested in participating to do so. Registration blanks costing $2 may be obtained at the Hun School or at the office of the Joint Recreation Department, Township Hall, sponsors of the league.

The fee covers the cost of a jersey. Players must furnish their own gear.

Those planning to watch the games are urged to bring folding chairs because there are no bleachers at the park. Complete information is available from the Recreation Center at 921-9488.

ONE NOTCH HIGHER

Tigers Second in IRA. A notation last week that Princeton's third place in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta at Syracuse on June 18 was the highest finish ever recorded by a Princeton crew was incorrect.

Word comes from Asa S. Bushnell, Palmer Square resident who is commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, that the Tigers were second in 1952. His letter was accompanied by documented proof in the form of the order of finish for the past 63 years in every IRA regatta, but his memory alone would undoubtedly have sufficed.

SAME OPPONENTS LISTED

On Hun Grid Schedule. The Hun School football team will play the same eight schools in the same order in 1966 as it did in 1965.

The home opener will be October 8 against Perkiomen. All contests with the exception of Admiral Farragut and Pingry will be Penn-Jersey League games. Last season, defense-minded Hun posted a fine 7-1 record, holding four opponents scoreless and limiting three others to six points apiece. It's only loss was to Perkiomen.

Michael Simko and Michael Otis will co-captain the Red and Black. Coach Gary Waterman will return as head coach, assisted by Dave Leete and Pete Savidge.

The 1966 schedule: Oct. 1, Admiral Farragut, away; 8, Perkiomen; 14, Germantown Friends, away; 22, Solebury; 28, Friends Central; Nov. 4, Pingry, away; 12, George School, away; 19, Pennington.

TRIPLE TIE FOR FIRST

In PBA Little League. With the first two rounds over in the Princeton PBA Little League, Engine Co. No. 3, Hook & Ladder and the Lions Club are in a three-way tie for first place with identical 2-0 records.

In last week's play Engine Co. No. 3 trounced the Italian-American Sportsman Club, 13-2, and American Legion Post 76, 7-1. Hook & Ladder also won two, downing American Legion Post 76, 7-3, behind the pitching of Jack Bayer and Rennie Scott and beating the Elks, 9-2.

The Lions, led by the hitting of Steve Alexander and the fielding of Robbie Nichols, upended the Elks, 11-9, and Engine Co. No. 1, 7-5. The Eagles pounced on Italian-American, 11-4, but the Eagles' contest with Engine Co. No. 1 ended in a tie and will be played-off on July 13.

TITLE TO BE DECIDED

In Head-to-Head Clash. First place honors will be at stake this week in the West Windsor Little League as front-running Thorne's Pharmacy and Ellsworth AC meet to decide the title. Both teams have identical 4-2 records going into the season finale.

In last week's action, Thorne's split a pair with Craft Cleaners losing 4-3 before winning 16-1, while Ellsworth dropped Amercian Cyanamid in a single contest, 10-6. In Thorne's first game, Craft hurler Rich Probasco twirled the victory, striking out 12. He was given support at the plate by Frank Stiefel, Ned Fry and Larry Martz. Larry Fowler hit a home run for the losers.

In the second game, the bottom of the batting order supplied the punch for the 16-1 romp. Leading the attack for manager Guy Watlington's Thorne's team was Kevin Dalton who collected two triples and a double.

clash Pete Zigler picked up the win to doom Cynanmid to last place in the league standings. Zigler, who contributed three hits himself, was backed by two doubles and a single by Mark Ellsworth.

Another tight victory was scored by First National Bank last week as the Bank squeezed past the West Windsor Lions, 4-3 in the final game for both of these teams. Kim Coleman belted a two-run homer to give the Lions an early lead, but the Bankers came back on the hitting of Doug and Dave Everett, Dave LeBeur and Grover Servis. Doug Everett headed off the chores and ended his little league career by striking out 12.

League playoffs will follow the Thorne's-Elsworth game. The final activity of the season will take place this Saturday as the 12-year-olds receive their certificates and trophies as graduates of little league play. Following the ceremonies the annual all-star team will be announced.

THOMPSON TO FILE

For New District. Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., who with Charles Howell has represented Mercer and Burlington Counties in the House of Representatives for the last 18 years, has announced that he will file for the Democratic nomination in the new Delaware River District.

Commenting on the redistricting plan which the New Jersey legislature had to pass by July 1, following the decision of the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision, Rep. Thompson said the bill, which Governor Hughes has signed into law, "will bring screams of protest from all quarters and will probably be subjected to a court test.

"Actually," he continued, "it is impossible to maintain the integrity of county lines with respect to Congressional Districts in New Jersey without an amendment to the United States Constitution. I see no possibility that the Constitution will be so amended, nor do I think that it should be."

Under the new Congressional District Plan, Mercer County will join Hunterdon, Warren and Sussex in one district. Burlington will be aligned with a part of Camden and most of Ocean County.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr.

"In a real sense," observed Rep. Thompson, "Mercer will be returning to its own, for it was created in 1838 from Hunterdon, Middlesex, Burlington and Somerset. But," he added, "I suspect that the state will survive last week's changes just as it has survived other changes since pre-Revolutionary times."

TO ADD TO MERWICK

Fifty More Beds Planned. The trustees of Princeton Hospital have announced they will make a two-story, 50-bed addition to Merwick, the Nursing Home located off Bayard Lane. It will cost $926,689 and contain 30,456 square feet.

Merwick is the name of a mansion centered in a nine-acre estate given to Princeton Hospital in 1894 by Thomas S. Hastings in memory of his mother. Its official name is the Elsie Proctor Matthews Unit of Princeton Hospital.

It was opened in August, 1957, by the hospital, which had spent more than $500,000 to remodel it and to add a modern annex. It serves as a nursing center for chronically ill patients and those in need of geriatric care. At the time, it was the first extended nursing facility in the state directly operated by a private hospital.

The new wing would add 38 private and 16 semi-private beds and increase accommodations to 91 patients — or "guests", the term used in the home-like setting of Merwick. Presently, Merwick has 36 guests and there is a waiting list of those seeking admission.

The steel and masonry addition would have exterior walls of brick finish percentured by a large number of windows. It would be fireproof and air-conditioned and extend from the northwest corner of the existing building toward Bayard Lane.

Richard G. Magill, hospital vice-president and chairman of the Merwick Task Committee which formulated the expansion, said this week: "Since its beginning in 1957, Merwick has been an operational success and we expect it will continue so under medicare and the modern concept of progressive patient care."

He added the expansion was needed for space to group similar geriatric patients together for the best treatment, for room to care for the chronically ill who cannot be cared for in their own homes and to accommodate convalescing patients who can be discharged from the main hospital, yet still require nursing care during their recuperation.

As a unit of the hospital, Merwick is under the direct supervision of the hospital administration with a staff physician in charge of medical service. It is a non-profit enterprise.

Full-Time Administrator. Miss Grace C. Fry of Green Avenue, Lawrenceville will in July become the first full-time administrator of Merwick. She had been head of the hospital's social service unit since 1960.

Mrs. Fry joined the hospital staff in 1949. During 1952-54, she was director of the Prince-

BIBLE SCHOOL TO OPEN

At Trinity Church. "For the Saviour and I" is the theme of the vacation Bible school at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 2750 Princeton Pike, which opens on Tuesday. Sessions will be held from 9 to 11:45 through Friday, July 15.

The Rev. Richard E. Claycombe, pastor, has announced that the program includes singing, handicraft and recreation in addition to Bible study. Registration will be held on the opening day.

TAXES A PROBLEM

For Presbyterian Homes. A claim for tax exemption filed by the Presbyterian Homes of New Jersey, Inc., 1 Palmer Square, for its Meadow Lakes development for the elderly is now before the State Division of Tax Appeals. The hearing is scheduled to be completed this week.

Hightstown Borough and East Windsor Township are reported to have approached nearly $3 million assessments on the property. The 1965 taxes of $130,000 have been upheld by Hightstown Borough Tax Commissioner Joseph Pellegrino.

Presbyterian Homes, Inc., claims that the Meadow Lakes development is a church operated facility function. The two municipalities contend that a direct church relationship is absent, that the rates are for rent to the elderly who can afford the rentals.

According to Henry S. Broad, attorney for the Presbyterian Homes, the court will decide that there is a direct church relationship because this corporation was formed by the Synod of New Jersey." He stated to the municipal officers exemption for charitable, religious and hospital purposes ("we have a clinic there") and for the moral and mental improvement of men and women. Presbyterian Homes Inc is claiming exemption under all four, he said. The Presbyterian Homes Inc. appeared before the municipal boards before the decision and stated that it would claim exemption. "So opportunity was given to state our position. If we were exempted, we said we would continue to contribute in lieu."

UNION SERVICES BEGIN

For Presbyterian. The summer union services of the three Presbyterian congregations in Princeton commence this Sunday. The Rev. F. Hugh Lifton of St. Andrew's will conduct 10 a.m. worship in First Presbyterian Church. His topic is "The Modern Mission."

Services move to St. Andrew's on July 24 and on August 14 to Witherspoon Street Church.

The church school will be held throughout the summer at 10 a.m. for pre-school and kindergarten age children. Mrs. Robert Dietrich of First Church is in charge of curriculum. A nursery is also scheduled during the worship hour. There will be a social hour following each service.

Representatives in charge of ushering are Sherwood Skillman of First Church; John B. Henderson, St. Andrew's, and T. Morgan Harris, Witherspoon Street Presbyterian.

A combined choir will sing at all the union services, led by Mrs Harry Pennewill, organist-director at First Church, James Heard, director, and Mrs. Kenneth Wight, organist at St. Andrew's, and Mrs. T. Morgan Harris, organist-director at Witherspoon.

Those in charge of finances are Walter B. Jefferson and Mse C. Wells of First Church; Carroll George of St. Andrew's and Howard B Waxwood Jr. of Witherspoon.

TO ATTEND PARLAY

On Church and Society. Three Princetonians will attend the World Council of Churches conference on Church and Society, scheduled for July 12-26 in Geneva, Switzerland.

Professors M. Richard Shaull and Paul L. O. West of Princeton Seminary, and Professor Paul Ramsey of Princeton University will be among the 600 participants from all parts of the world. The conference, first of its kind since the 1937 Oxford Conference, has the theme "Christians in the Technical and Social Revolutions of Our Time."

Professor Shaull is a member of the steering committee and will give one of the major addresses. He will also participate in the youth and student conference running concurrently with the main sessions. He wrote two articles dealing with political questions and theological issues for a special issue of "Social Action and Social Progress."

Dr. and Professor West contributed chapters to the four books published by the World Council in preparation for the conference. Professor West will serve as coordinator of a group of theologians and will take part in discussions on theology and selected issues of the contemporary world.

PLAN PCUC WORKSHOP

At Stuart School. The interdenominational Princeton Christian Unity Committee has announced a one-day workshop in leadership training to be held September 17 at the Stuart School of the Sacred Heart, The Great Road.

Mrs. Landon Peters of St. Paul's R.C. Church is in charge of arrangements at the school: Miss Natalie Vaughan of Trinity Parish is general chairman and Miss Jacqueline Kennedy, Trinity, is in charge of curriculum.

Keynoter will be the Rev Arlo Duba, minister and professor at Westminster Choir College. The workshop is planned for public school teachers, administrators and Christian education committee members. Leaders are being recruited from all of the major denominations.

The work shop is designed to supplement existing church leadership training programs, the PCUC has announced. Age group discussions will be held for teachers of pre-school through 12th grade classes. A workshop is also planned for those who serve in administrative and supervisory capacities. Display of curriculum materials and general resources will be set up to give participants an opportunity to learn about the educational programs of other denominations.

The fee is $2.50 per person. Registration forms may be obtained at the churches about September 1.

They Jam Stamp Machines. Postmaster John L. Dilworth has asked Princeton residents not to use foreign coins in the two stamp vending machines located in the lobby.

K. M. KNIGHT REAL ESTATE

MIDDLE-AGED, MELLOW AND MARVELOUS! The serene atmosphere of an earlier age, trees spreadeo this lovely home throughout, is so contagious that we can easily envision a noisy, bickering 1966 family moving in and living in peace and quiet ever after! All the space in the world is there, both in size of rooms & numbers: entrance hall, library, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen, pantry, basement playroom, 8 bedrooms (2 with fireplaces 3 close-off-able), 4½ baths, solarium with fishpond & fountain, screened porch, raised terrace overlooking delightful secluded grounds, 2 car garage. Piece de resistance is the living room — without a doubt one of the most marvelous rooms we've seen! Work to be done (but quite liveable as is), and well worth it at an asking price of $75,000

BRIGHT CLEAN AND SUNNY BOROUGH Dutch Colonial country house in the middle of town. 3 bedrooms, separate dining room, double lot. Out-of-town owner interested in offers on an asking price of $30,500

Large usable entrance hall, living room with huge corner fireplace, dining room with corner fireplace waiting to be opened up, pretty, efficient kitchen still with the farmhouse feeling, 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths. Wide attic floorboards could be used downstairs. 1 acre, pretty planting. $37,900. With 2 bedroom garage apartment, barn and 1 more acre $59,500

TWO IN THE TWENTIES: 1) Two-story with white aluminum siding (barely distinguishable from clapboard) near University and Riverside School. 3 Bedrooms, 1½ baths, separate dining room. Nice at $27,900. 2) Quaint button on the edge of the woods on a close-in Township road. Five rooms, pristine condition. Perfect for newly-weds or retired couple; can be practically expanded. 2 plus acres with lovely planting and trees. $26,500

FIVE BEDROOM TOWNSHIP HOUSE. Perfect family home in Littlebrook School District. Entrance hall, living room with bay window, dining room, separate breakfast room, kitchen with double oven and unusual amount of storage, paneled family room, laundry, four walk-in, (plus innumerable other) closets, flagstone terrace, excellent landscaping, big trees. One of the best buys around, we think. $23,000

THREE BEDROOM TOWNSHIP HOUSE. Perfect home for couple. Beautifully built, fine condition, low maintenance. Good living room with fireplace, separate dining room, utility room, 1 bath. All-on-one-floor for easy living inside; small but green, attractive and well-treed lot for easy living outside. $36,000

NOT HOUDINI, but the architect-owner has transformed this modest saltbox into something quite different. The trick? The addition of a first floor master suite with its own tile bath; loads of custom cabinets and built-ins; invisible, separately controled electric heat; and its own exclusive back deck. Plus a high-ceilinged living room with fireplace; separate study and dining room; three upstairs children's rooms and bath; playroom; laundry; 2½ car garage. Located between Pennington and Hopewell on a nicely shrubbed lot with a long view. $36,500

COUNT THE WAYS to use this Lawrence Township property. For cool living. Comfortable, time-room, two-bath older house but centrally air-conditioned with good copper pipes and wiring. For animal enthusiasts, two barns and approximately four acres (the present owners now have a kennel license). For entrepreneurs, approximately 1100 feet of road frontage. Subdivide and sell lots or start your own house building project. The entire package — just $35,000

FOOLPROOF FLOOR PLAN — Traditional Colonial design with a wide center hall, formal dining room, sunken living room with fireplace, paneled study, fully equipped kitchen with breakfast area, powder room, four bedrooms, two tile baths, airy screen porch, full basement, and two-car garage. Two blocks from the New York bus in a quiet Township location. $51,500

"THE WOODS ARE LOVELY, DARK, AND DEEP . . ." — With apologies to Poet Frost, the line describes two lots off Ridgeview Road on a circle in the Johnson Park School district. Both are more than two acres with ample frontage. Now with city water, and the sewer is under construction. $17,500 each, plus sewer assessment.

DON'T RACE THE MOTOR, MOTHER — Relax in this nearly new Colonial. The kids can walk to the new Community Recreation area and in the fall to the Community Park and Valley Road Schools. Built to the exacting specifications of its transferred owners, the house has such extras as two fireplaces, one in the living room and one in the big, informal family room; three and one-half baths, including one off the huge master bedroom and two for the four children's bedrooms. Screen porch, fully equipped kitchen, complete storms and screens, and a built-in AM-FM system, plus separate dining room, and two-car garage. $57,500

SUMMERTIME AND THE LIVING CAN BE VERY EASY where all is leafy shade without and air-conditioned comfort within; where a brand-new swimming pool beckons jewel-like at the bottom of the garden. For all seasons, there are four bedrooms and two baths, a big entrance hall, living room, separate dining room, loads of storage space, and Princeton schools $33,900

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT

This is an ideal situation. An almost new house, a wooded lot, pretty Colonial exterior, available immediately. Perfect location for everyone in the family (Mom, doesn't have to drive each child to their projects — they can walk!) Gracious entry hall, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, a real family kitchen. The work area bright and modern, the step-down eating area completely charming with another fireplace and a view of the pretty trees. Four bedrooms, 2½ baths and a dry basement. A mighty proud offering at $51,000

BE INDEPENDENT

You don't have to have a two-story Colonial. We can offer a pretty ranch style home with a super lower level that is cool in summer and cozy as can be in winter because of the fireplace. There is also a fireplace in the living room. Four bedrooms, one full and two half baths, carport. The lot is beautifully maintained and there are trees galore. You can even be independent of a car if you'd like to walk to the Shopping Center. Marvelous location for the grammar school group. $34,500

MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP

Can't offer much better than this handsome Colonial. Four bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room, formal dining room, large modern kitchen, paneled library with fireplace, a large family room, and a dry basement as a bonus. The lot has been professionally landscaped and had loving care. If you like the "extras" in life, you will appreciate the inter-com for good music, the favorite baseball game or for just getting the kids out of bed! $38,000

DEAR PARENT:

Some of your children who need corrective or remedial reading instruction are being sent twenty or thirty miles away, while the same service is available in the center of Princeton.

In addition to our developmental programs for students and adults, we also teach students with corrective or remedial problems. A trained specialist tutors such students in vocabulary, phonics, word attack, sentence, paragraph and article comprehension, concentration skills — in short, any and all basic skills that a below-average reader may lack.

We schedule these sessions at the convenience of the students. And we're not twenty miles away.

DEAR READER:

Whoever you are — businessman, housewife, student — you can improve your reading skills. For seventeen years we have helped people like you become better comprehension and speed.

And we have learned from our students. We have found that each reader has individual problems, so we have designed an individually taught and scheduled course. We use your own material — where it counts. And we don't expect you to be finished when you're not; we will give extra and review sessions for as many years as you wish with no additional charge.

This summer we will be teaching from 9-5 on weekdays, and on Monday and Wednesday nights. See if you can improve as in. You'll be glad you did.
